

THE COURT,

Unanimously,

Finds that the Application of the Government of Fiji for permission to intervene in the proceedings instituted by New Zealand against France lapses, and that no further action thereon is called for on the part of the Court.

Done in English and in French, the English text being authoritative, at the Peace Palace, The Hague, this twentieth day of December, one thousand nine hundred and seventy-four, in four copies, one of which will be deposited in the archives of the Court, and the others transmitted to the Government of Fiji, the Government of New Zealand, and the French Government, respectively.

Judge GROS makes the following declaration:

Je vote la présente ordonnance pour des motifs différents de ceux qu'elle indique. Le document présenté par le Gouvernement fidjien le 18 mai 1973 ne pouvait à aucun titre être considéré comme une demande d'intervention au sens de l'article 62 du Statut et cette demande aurait dû être rejetée dès l'origine.

Judge ONYEAMA makes the following declaration:

I have voted in favour of the Order, although, in my view, the reason given for it, namely that the claim of the applicant State no longer has any object and in consequence there will no longer be any proceedings before the Court in which intervention would be possible, carries an implication with which I am unable to agree. The implication is that if the claim had had an object and the Court had been called upon to give a decision thereon, there would have been a possibility of intervention in this case.

Fiji was not, at any time material to these proceedings, a party to the General Act of 1928 nor to the optional clause of the Statute of the Court on which the applicant State sought to base the Court's jurisdiction, nor
